

North End Passive concept gets a thumbs up!

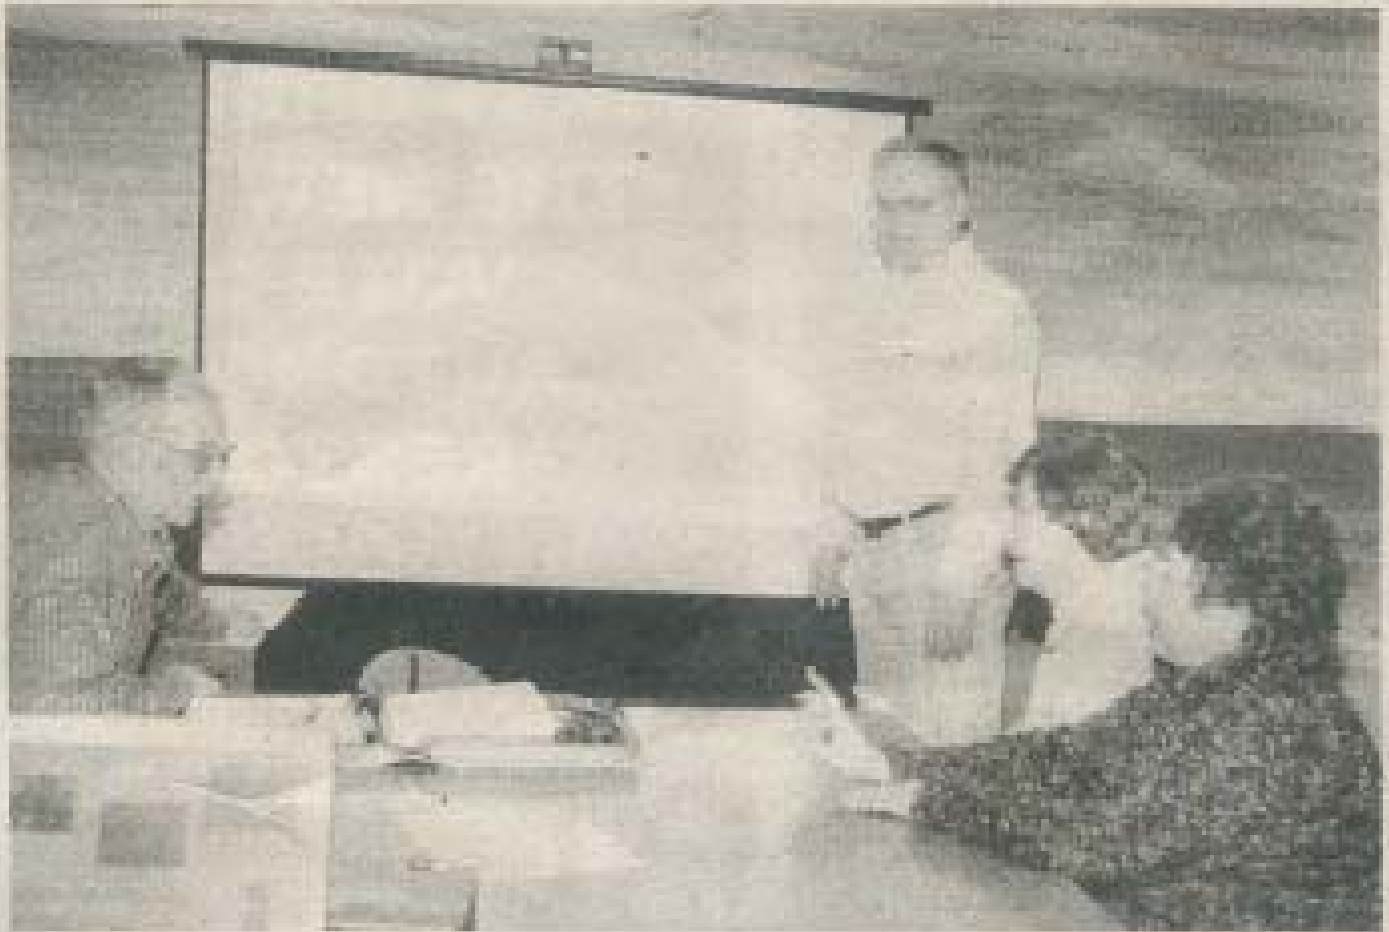

Photo: IRENE JAMESON

SEA ISLE CITY - (Photo Caption) Gary Egnasko, a member of the North End Association, is shown during a power point presentation of a proposed concept for a Passive Park at the former landfill at 5th Street and Landis Avenue in Sea Isle City. Shown discussing the park are members of the environmental commission Mike McHale, Jerry Barry, and Annette Lombardo, commission chairperson, who gave their support for the park.

The park may include bird watching, bike trail, environmental tours, kayaking, canoeing, dog beach, and a possibility to locate the proposed restored Lundlam Life Saving Station in the park area. Public input will be included.