

Police Promoted

SEA ISLE CITY — Four members of the police department here were given promotions on April 2. Mayor Leonard Desiderio and Capt. Michael Cook, who is running the 19-member police force in the absence of the suspended Chief William Kennedy, officiated the promotion ceremony. Thomas D'Intino, a member of the department since 1990, was promoted from Lieutenant to Captain. Next, Sgt. Michael Jargowsky and Staff Sgt. Dennis Felsing, both on the force since the mid-1980s, were named Lieutenants. Finally, Patrolman John Milburn, with the department for 21 years, was promoted to Sergeant. In a statement, Desiderio thanked the officers for their hard work with the police department.
